AMERICA 2000

October 25, 7 pm @ Hotel Louisville, 120 West Broadway, refreshments served

What Do the Demographics Say?

This interactive session will explore the data policy makers use to make decisions.

- What population shifts are happening?
- How will these impact:
 - our tax base
 - our schools,
 - social security,
 - life in the United States and other countries.

Come see what the numbers reveal about our future locally, regionally, nationally, and across the globe. Ron Crouch, current director of research for the Workforce Development Cabinet and former director of the US Census Bureau Kentucky State Data Center, will use his magical touch to make the data speak to us and help us understand our world.

Special Guest

Curtis Morrison, one of the early organizers of the Occupy Louisville movement, will join us to give both an update on the current situation, the atmosphere that lead him and others to join the protest and what the future might hold for this grass-roots opposition. The movement was granted a permit late last week, which Curt found out about from a tweet from Mayor Greg Fischer. Curt is also the founder/editor of the online blog Louisville Currant.
